Web-based Security Administration for IBM FileNet Image Manager

Softech & Associates, Inc.

WebSecAdmin

Technology Description

WebSecAdmin is a web-based application for the security administration of users and groups on IBM FileNet Image Manager servers. It also provides access to current user session status information. WebSecAdmin provides a simple user interface that is easy for non-power users to learn. It uses a tabbed folder metaphor with one tab for each major function. Access to each tab/function is controlled by IBM FileNet Image Manager group membership – the current user must be a member of designated groups in the security database.

WebSecAdmin is a thin-client web application and only requires users to have a standard HTML browser installed on their workstation. In order to be compatible with the widest possible range of users and environments, WebSecAdmin does not use cookies and does not require installation of any specialized plug-ins. WebSecAdmin does require browser support of frames, JavaScript, and Java. In addition, a telnet service on the server is required in order to support session status functions.

Features & Benefits

Supports the following common Image Manager security functions:
- Create New User
- Create New Group
- Delete User/Group
- Modify User/Group
- Change Password
- Force Logoff
- Export and Import Users and Groups

Value Proposition

Softech's WebSecAdmin allows system administrators of IBM FileNet Image Manager to manage security via a web browser; currently System Administrators have to logon to the FileNet Image Manager server to perform these functions. The logon has to occur either physically on the server or connecting to the server remotely which is not always convenient for System Administrators.
