To sail against the tides you need rock-solid expertise

To sail against the tides you need rock-solid expertise

Companies today face many challenges. Globalisation, competition, customer expectations, compliance regulations, risk management and financial performance are putting more pressure on management than ever before. A reliable guide is crucial to provide your company with trustworthy tools that support all management levels in their endeavours for excellence and performance. That is why LACO solutions are considered a success only when they meet user requirements and expectations. The outcome should not only be technically adequate, but also be accomplished within the limits of time and budget.

LACO's expertise is your strength

Our Business Consultants, Project Leaders, Functional and Technical Analysts, Tool Specialists and Developers know your business and the solutions you need. With the LACO Project Methodology, a pragmatic and step-by-step result-oriented approach, we are able to meet your most demanding requirements. Our project methodology is adapted to the specific requirements of Business Intelligence and Application Development.

Streamlining applications to facilitate your business

Laco is your expert for:

Business Intelligence: LACO has developed a comprehensive methodology to build successful business intelligence systems that turn data into the right information (at the right place) to support and improve the decision-making process in your organisation. We offer expertise and build solutions for Corporate Performance Management, Reporting and Data Warehousing.

Application Development: LACO builds tailor-made applications in .NET, JAVA and mainframe environments, from the analysis of business requirements to the design of the architecture, system build, testing and deployment.

Business Consultancy: Senior LACO consultants have a deep understanding of your business processes. They are ideal partners for developing your requirements and translating them into the optimal solution and the most feasible project plan.

ICT-management consultancy: LACO has consolidated its project-experience in the LACO Project Methodology. The LACO Project Methodology is pragmatic and based on best practices. Our senior project specialists can help you to improve the maturity of your IT-organisation with their support and recommendations on methodology and IT-management.
