IBM Cognos Express – An All-in-One Performance Management Platform

Midsized organizations and departmental groups face significant barriers to BI and performance management. These include total cost of ownership, disruption to the business during implementation, and overstretched IT resources. The answer is IBM Cognos Express, the exciting new all-in-one performance management solution that provides a single platform for reporting, analysis and planning for deployments of up to 100 users. Join Newcomp Solutions to learn how this easy-to-buy, easy-to-install, and easy-to-use solution, with its 64-bit memory architecture, can open doors within your organization or department. This session will cover product overview, license model and software demonstration.
