

IBM z/TPF Development 1.0.0 Visual Studio Code extension archive README
<https://github.com/IBM/ztpf-development>

Copyright IBM Corp. 2026

Introduction

This archive includes the IBM z/TPF Development Visual Studio Code extension and all the additional files required to verify the digital signature of the extension file.

Package Contents

- ztpf-development-1.0.0.vsix : the IBM z/TPF Development extension file
- ztpf-development.base64.sig : base64 encoded signature for the extension file decode to use for signature verification
- ztpf-development.cert : IBM certificate
used for signature verification
- ztpf-development.pub : IBM GPG signing public key
used for signature verification
- ztpf-development.sig : binary signature for the extension file

Installation

From Visual Studio Code, open the Extensions view, click the three dots at the top right, select `Install from VSIX...` and browse to the location where the extension file was extracted.

License Information

For license information, see the LICENSE file that is packaged as part of the `ztpf-development-1.0.0.vsix` file.

For notices information, see the NOTICES file that is packaged as part of the `ztpf-development-1.0.0.vsix` file.

The VSIX files is an archive file, you can use a program like 7-Zip to view the contents.