

Security, Audit and Compliance - An Enterprise Perspective

Attend one of our free half-day technical seminars to learn how your mainframe can be used as the hub of a safe and compliant enterprise

Over the course of 40 years, the union of IBM hardware and software has grown into a symbiotic relationship, characterized by straightforward cooperation, seamless coordination and tight integration. This is precisely why IBM System z™ is able to deliver the system integrity and security-rich solutions needed to help meet security requirements for today's on demand enterprise.

Join us for a special half-day security and compliance seminar in a city near you. You'll learn valuable lessons in how to leverage your mainframe to implement security solutions that help protect your IT systems and meet compliance mandates – moving from outdated approaches with security rooted in silos, to well-integrated security aligned with business priorities. You'll learn from the experiences of your peers, and see the role System z plays in a long-term strategy for an effective security and compliance model.

In this half-day session, Security, Audit and Compliance - An Enterprise Perspective, we'll take an in-depth look through real-world examples of security and compliance challenges and how System z can help:

- Address audit and compliance concerns through the integration of policies and technologies
- Manage risks while still supporting core business goals
- Deliver a complete solution for the enterprise security hub with z/OS® and RACF®

Developed for: Security executives, security managers, compliance groups, architects, IT management
