IMS 10 Enhancements and Migration Planning

Attend this complimentary two-day IMS technical update for an in-depth discussion of major topics in migrating to IMS 10 – from understanding the value of new features to planning for your unique installation.

Most businesses have invested countless years building IMS™ applications, using IMS data, and developing IMS skills. But the increasing size of data repositories and applications, as well as the demands placed upon them by business requirements, are creating more complex environments that need to be more easily managed with autonomic enhancements. Continuous, high-performance operations for applications and data is a key driver behind the innovations in IMS 10.
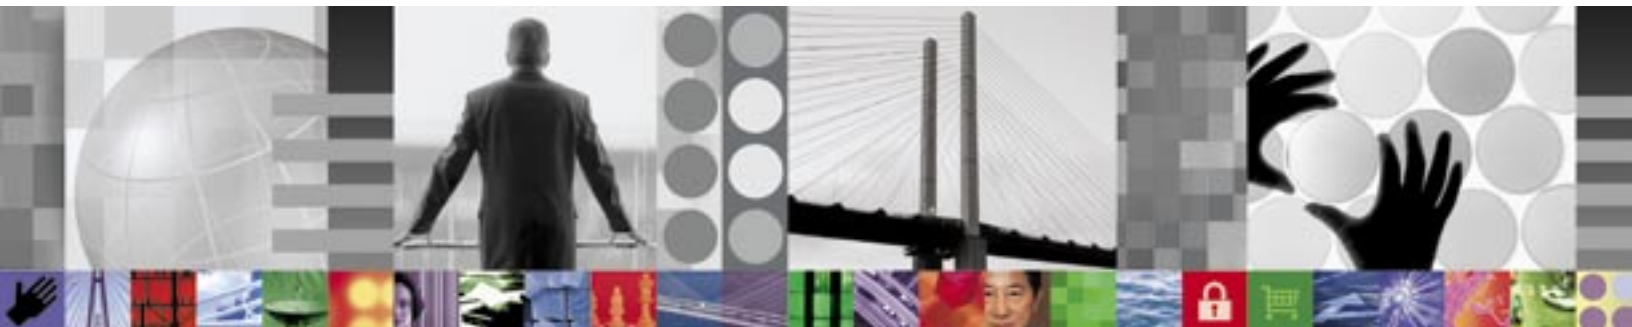

This complimentary two-day seminar will show you how to preserve your IMS investment and leverage it as you migrate to IMS 10 and meet the requirements of the modern on demand environment. In these full-day sessions, you'll learn more about IMS and migration planning for IMS 10, including how to share and aggregate information even with a shortage of skilled database administrators. This is just one reason why IMS continues to lead the market in information integration, manageability and scalability.

IBM is offering this intermediate skill level class at no charge to introduce IMS Version 10 to the technical community. The content and instructors are identical to the typical for-fee sessions that IBM offers. At the conclusion of the two days, attendees will be able to:

* Describe the new features and functions delivered in IMS 10
* Identify functions that are applicable to their unique environment
* Plan for the installation and implementation of IMS 10 and its new functionality
