

Enabling Business Flexibility: Building the platform for business value

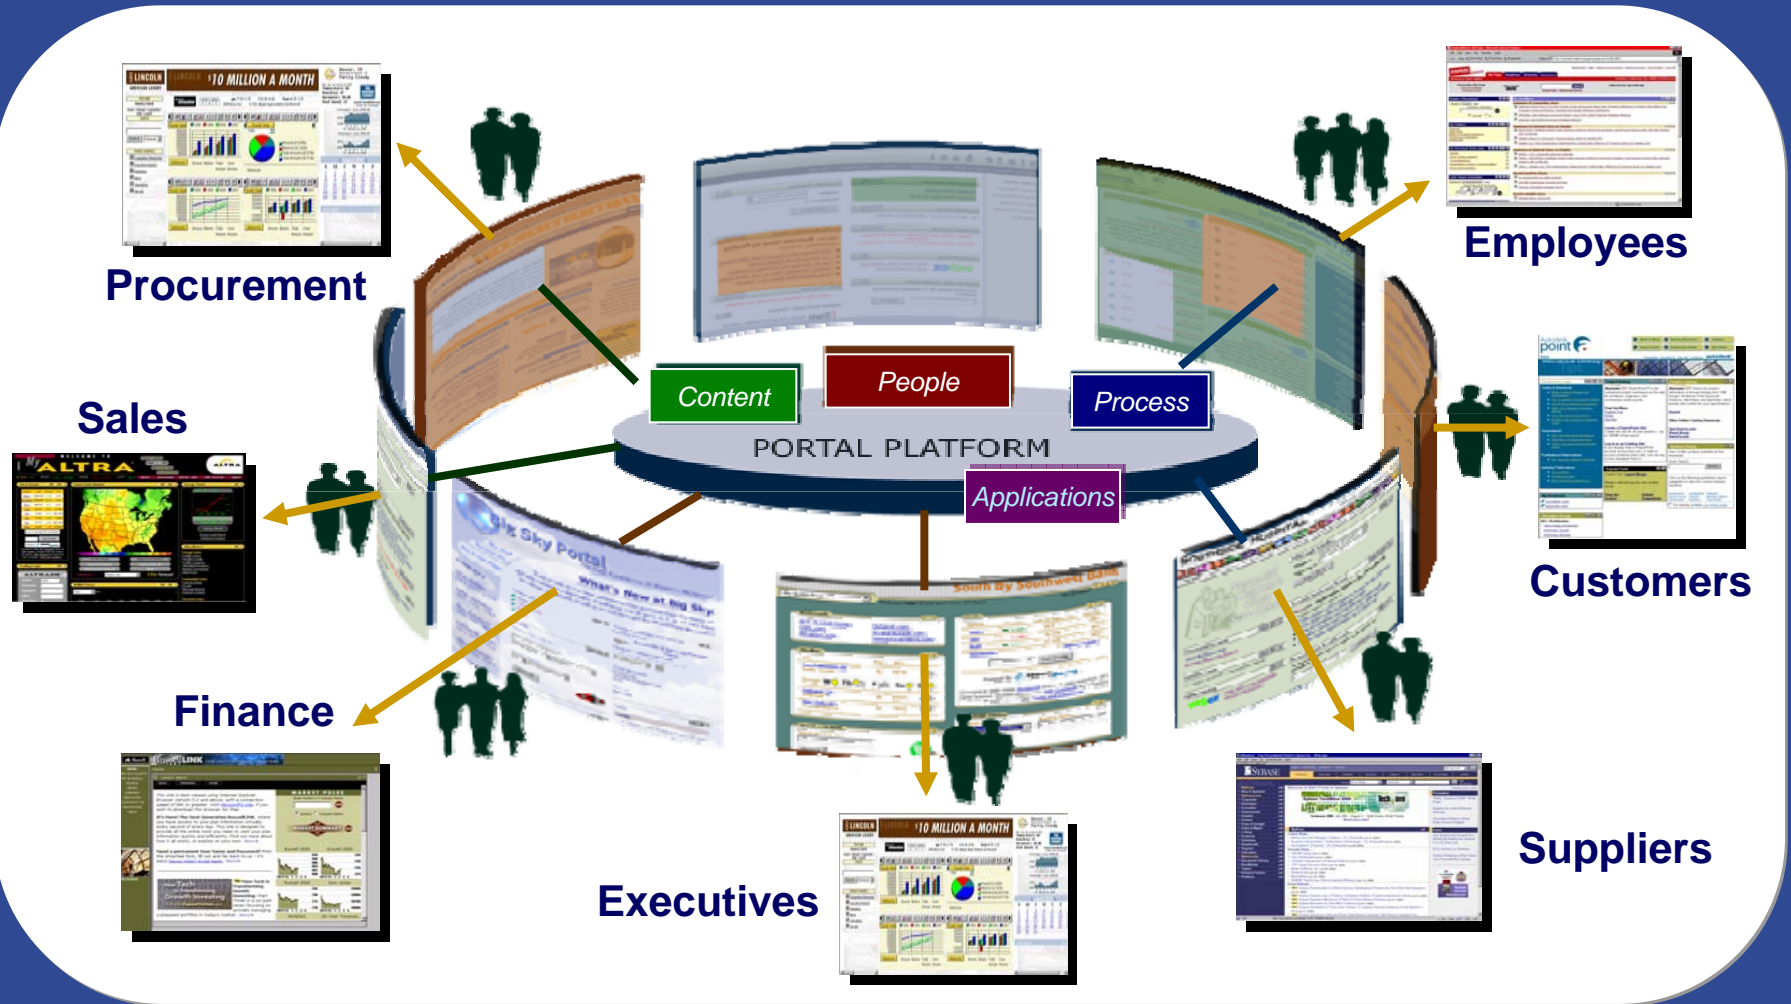

Lisa Blalock – Portal Solutions – North Europe

Do you want to

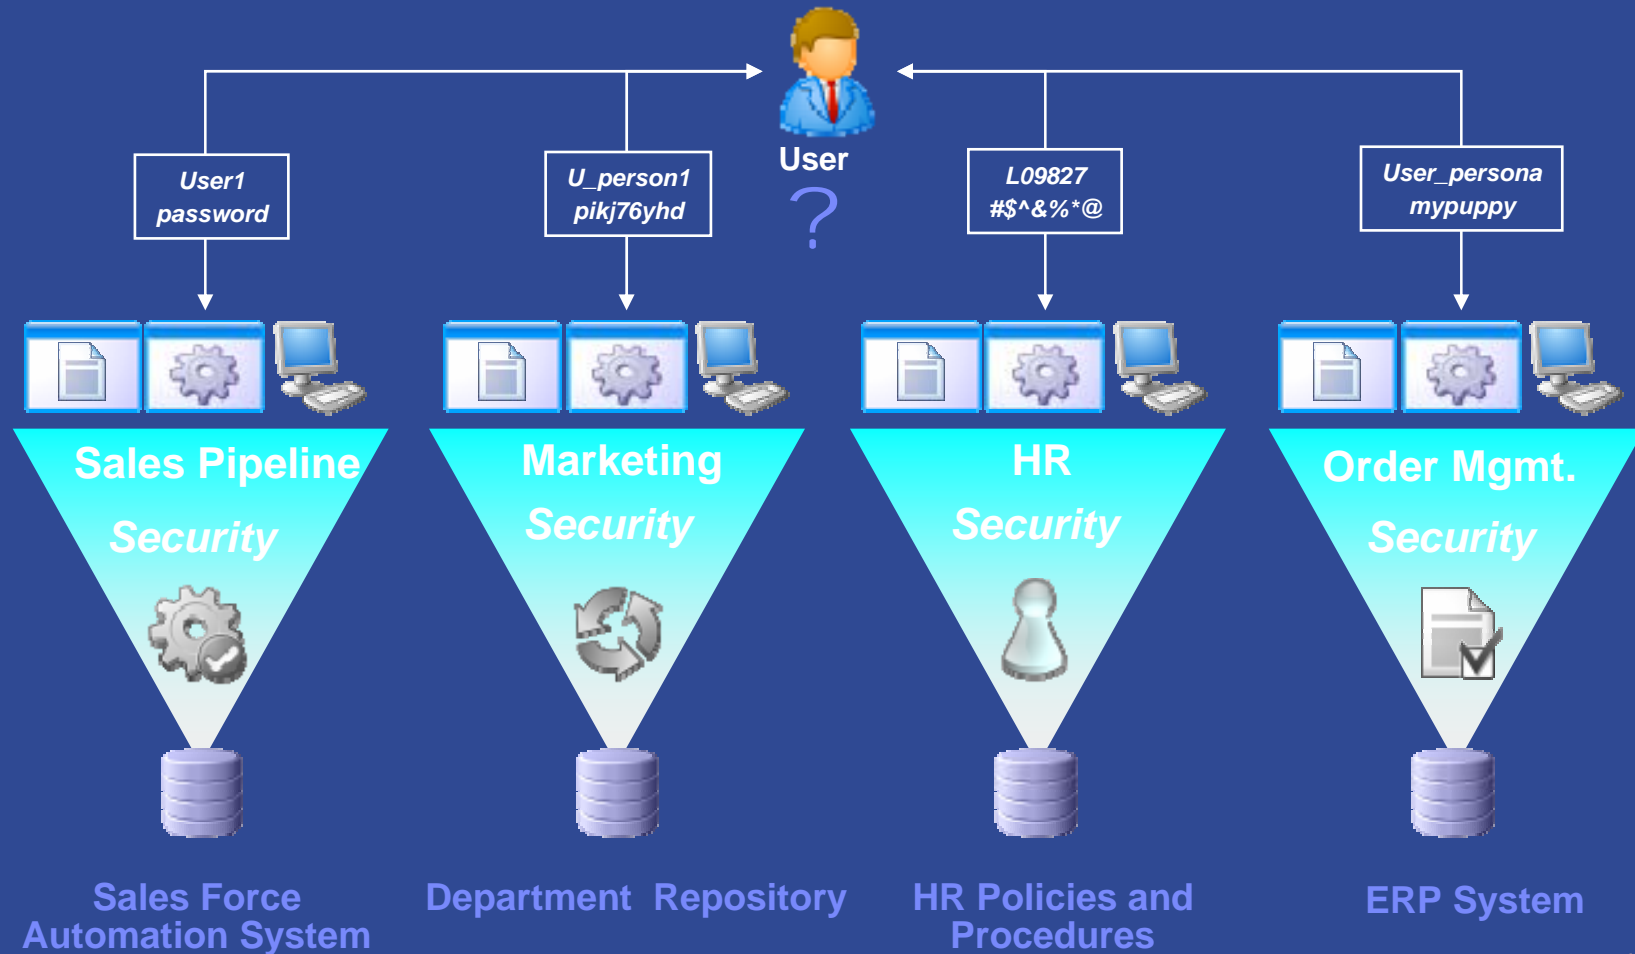

Deliver Personalized Information to a Broad Community

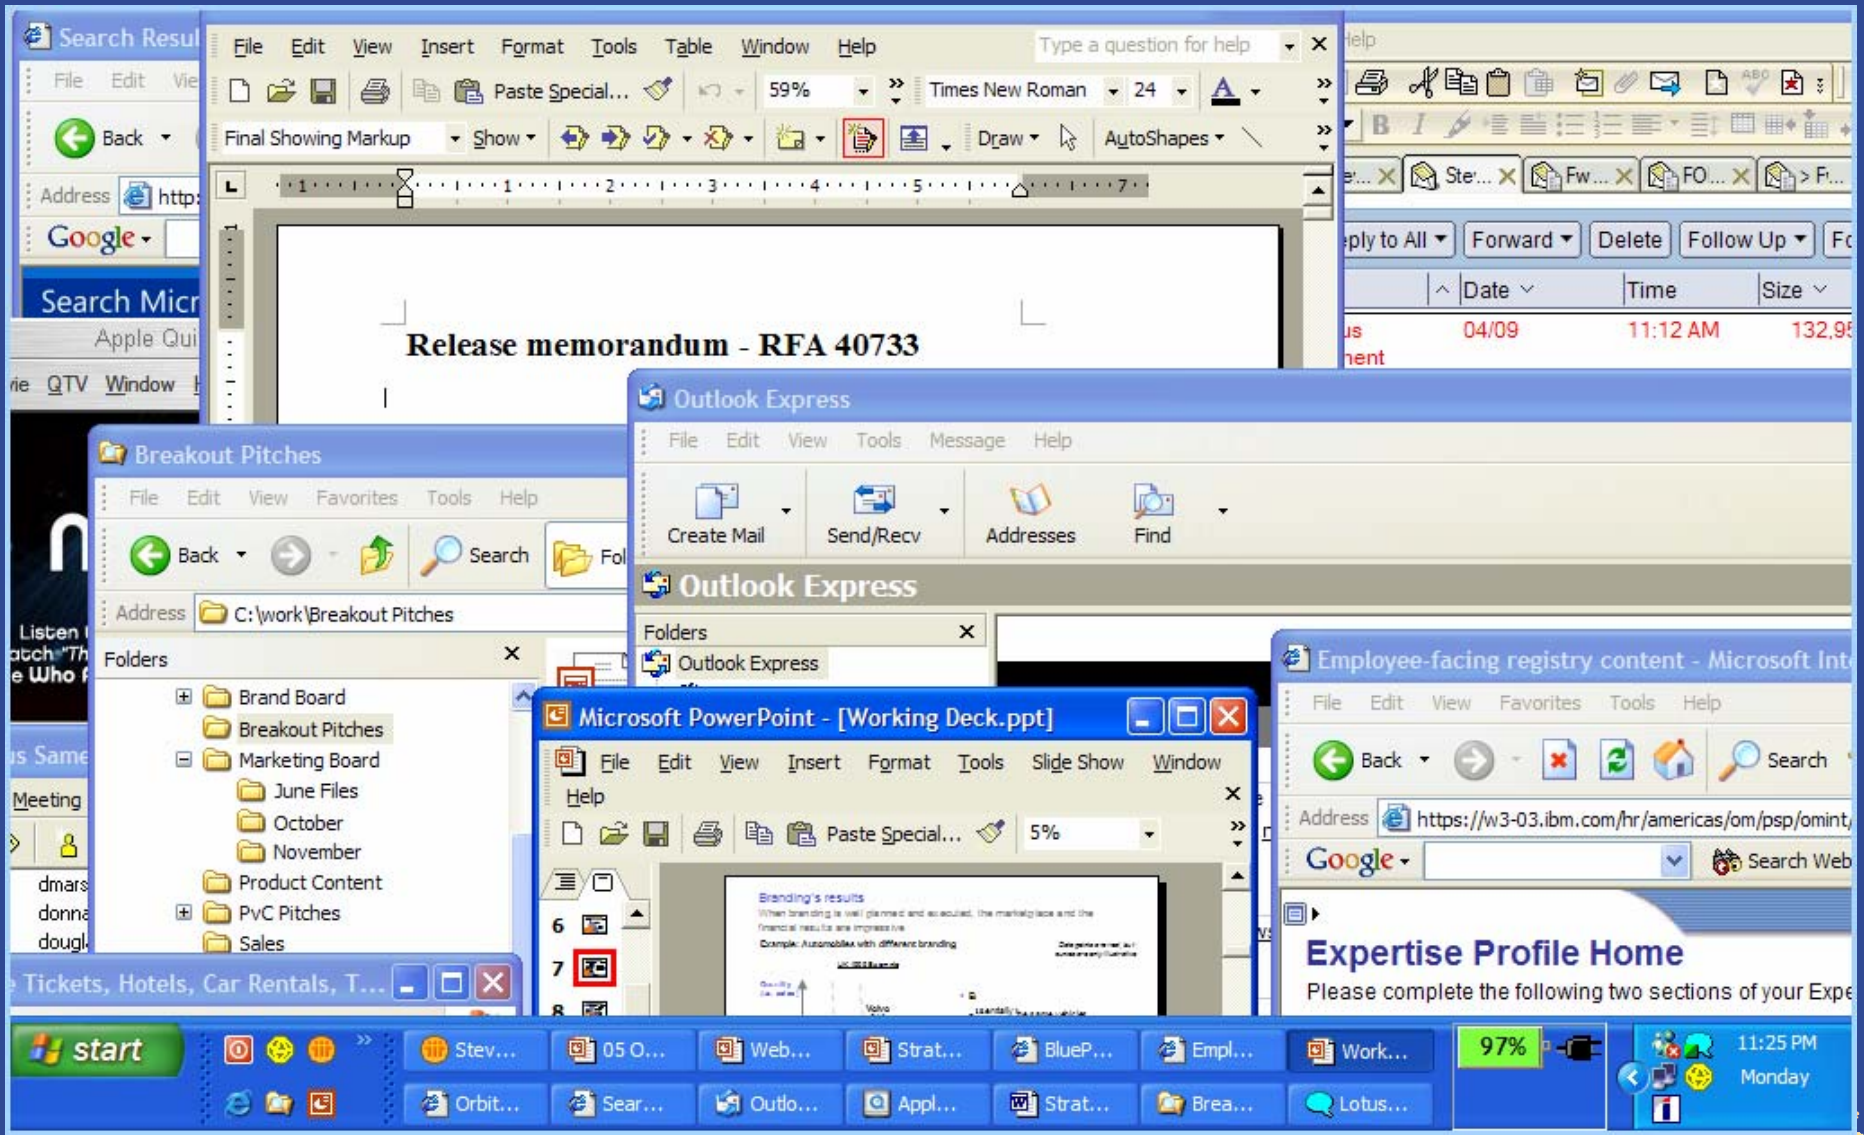

The Usability Challenge

Applications and information are delivered in silos

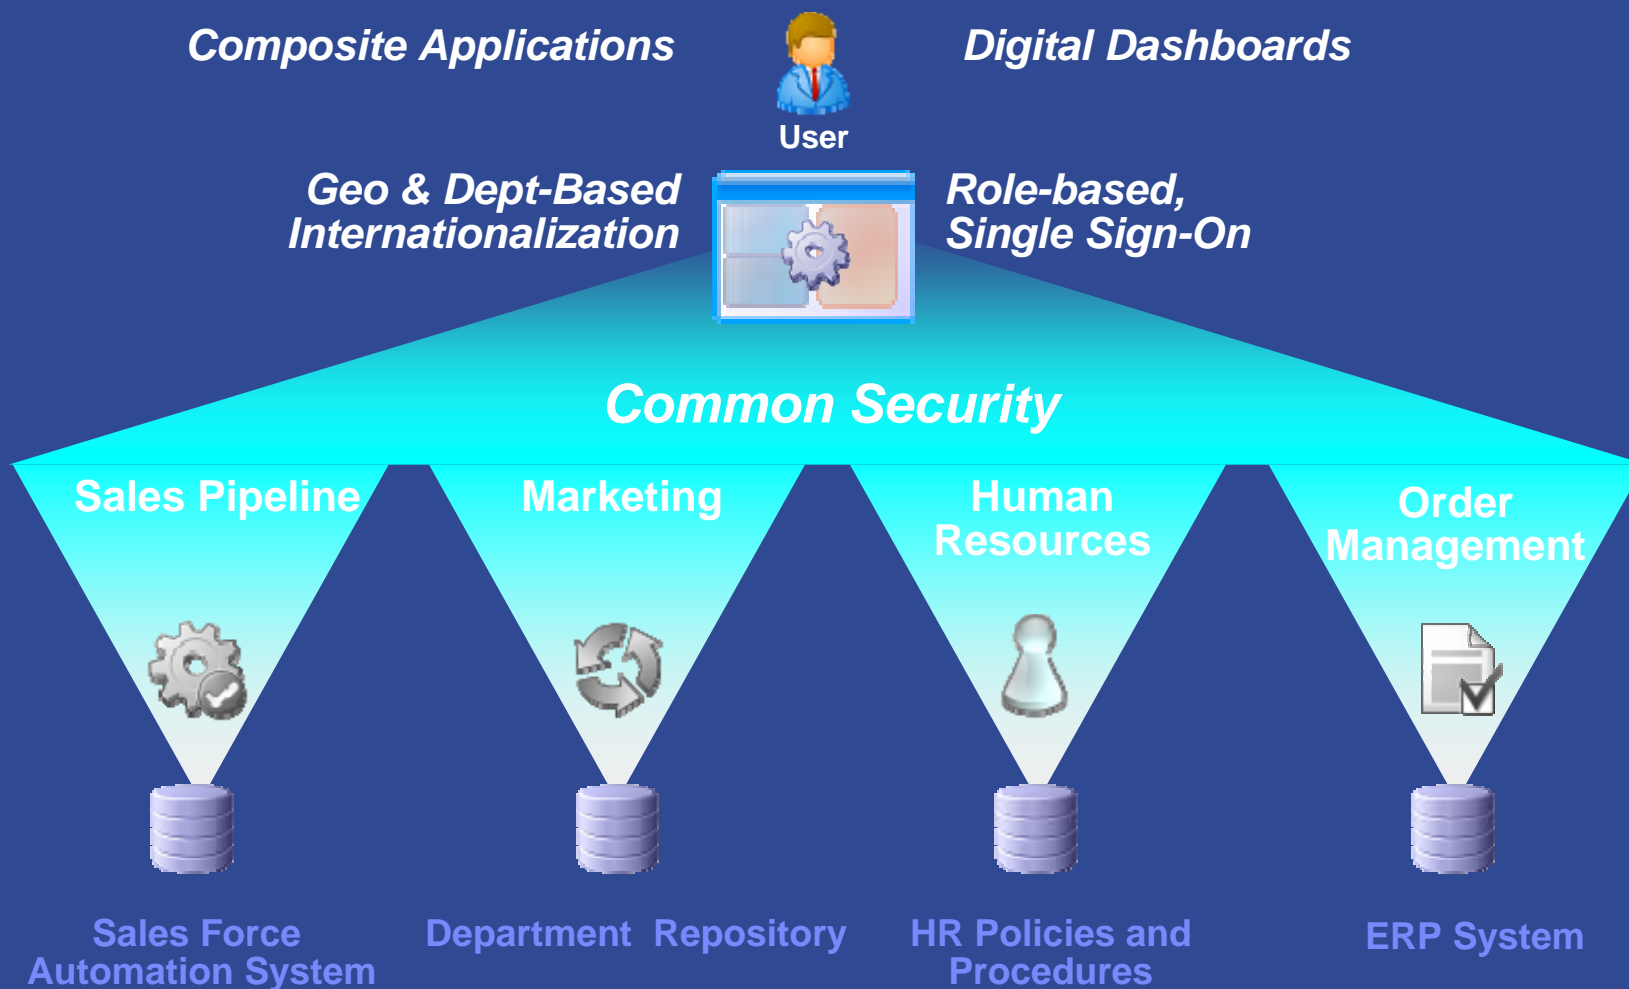

Today, many people work like this...

The Answer to the Problem

An environment that adapts to the needs of each user, in their role

Understanding IBM's View of SOA

A Service

A repeatable business task –
e.g., check customer credit;
open new account

Service Oriented Architecture (SOA)

An IT architectural style that supports service orientation

Service Orientation

A way of integrating your business as linked services and the outcomes that they bring

A Composite Application

A set of related & integrated services that support a business
function

Service Oriented Architecture: the blueprint for change

“Service-oriented architecture deployments are increasing and becoming a mainstream architectural model for developing services, applications and infrastructures.”

*“Effective Web Services and SOBAs Require Management”
Frank Kenney, Gartner
September 28, 2004*

Why SOA?

- Flexibility
- Facilitates re-use of existing applications
- Supports effective business process implementations
- Designed for change

WebSphere Portal as your SOA User Experience

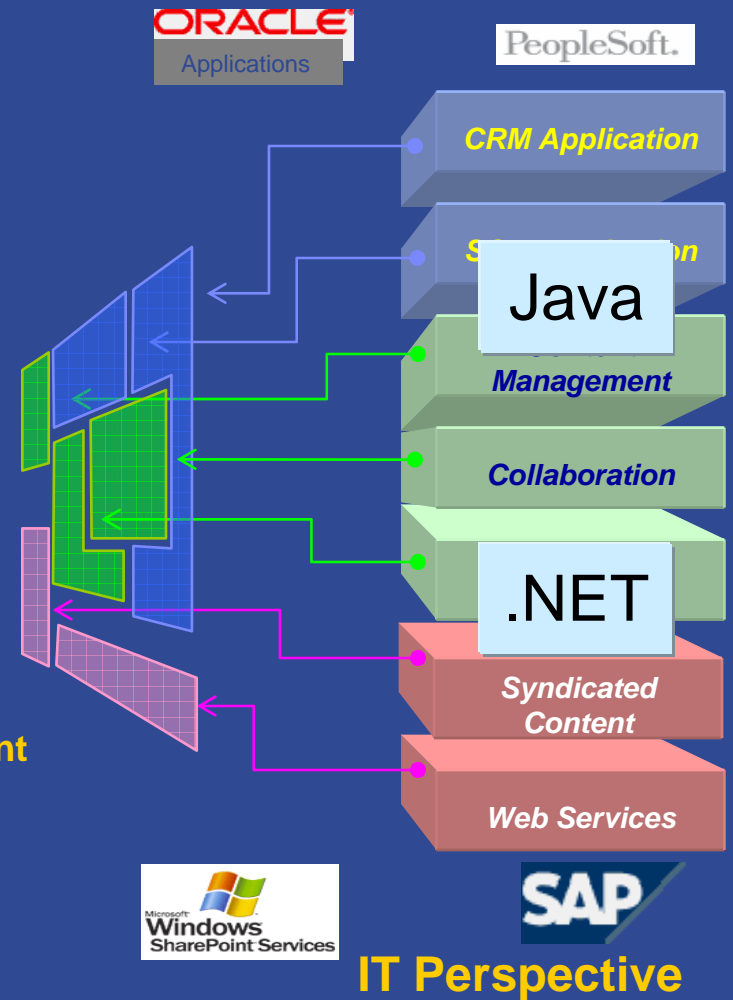

User Perspective

- Collaboration
- Customization
- Personalization
- Dynamic Navigation
- Single Sign On
- People Awareness
- PDM/Content

Lotus software

Secure Access
Rapid, Role-based Deployment
Scalability & Reliability

A Business Problem

The Call Center

- Info from call Router portlet can populate the call center employee's desktop
- Productivity is improved by integrating disparate applications and allowing focus to remain on the customer
- A Composite Application

New Business Requirement Increase Sales

- Add the needed component
- “Wire it” into the application
- Composition instead of programming

The screenshot displays the IBM WebSphere Portal interface for On Demand Corporation. The page is titled "Welcome Cindy!" and shows a customer profile for Tom Leslie. The "Customer Accounts" table lists two active accounts. The "Customer Call History" table shows two completed calls. A blue arrow points from the "Customer Accounts" table to the "Customer Call History" table.

An Example of Collaboration in Context

- Use Sametime from within a component
- 'Buddy' is in context of application, not people you actually know
- User stays focused on the application

Improve IT Responsiveness and Business Alignment

Business Capabilities

Business Benefits

Portal Service Reuse

(e.g. User Interface, Personalization, Security Integration, Admin)

Reduction in app design/dev/deploy cost and time via reusable services and reuse of portlets

Portlet Reuse / Portlet Catalog / Portlet Builder

Reduction in development cost/time through portlet builders, dashboard builders, etc.

SOA Ready

Faster realization of SOA vision by providing standard framework to surface backend services

Summary:

Portals provide value to business

- Productivity — Logon once, and find what you need (documents, applications, people, processes) when you need it, customizable by the person, not by I/T.
- Focus — Filtered and personalized information, and the ability to act on it
- Innovation — Bring together information, ideas and people and rapidly support new business models.

...and also provide value to I/T

- Speed - Shortens application development time, shortens time-to-value delivering new function.
- Responsiveness - Allows the building of composite applications using SOA components or LOB applications to meet constantly changing business requirements.
- Flexibility – Built on open standards and extensible architectures. Allows use of virtually any application on any device, and run it on any client or server platform.

2006 Portal Highlights

How to get started?

- The most important consideration – where you are right now, where you need to go to align with your business needs.

- There are many potential starting points
 - ▶ Pilot
 - ▶ Add to existing initiative - Use portal on an I/T initiative that is in early stages.
 - ▶ Add to existing system - Expand an existing portal or your IBM software infrastructure with new capabilities offered by portal.
 - ▶ Build a business case - Further define the needs, gain consensus, build a portal visualization and/or an ROI model for a portal initiative (A Business Value Assessment from IBM can help)

- Additional useful information
 - ▶ Have Lotus collaboration strategy presentation
 - ▶ Have product presentations/demonstration on portal and/or related products of interest
 - ▶ Read Client Case Studies on WWW
 - ▶ Meet with an Architect to discuss how products fit into current infrastructure/architectures
 - ▶ Read Business Value Assessment Brochure and meet with an Business Value Consultant.
